MOKENA WORKING UP

SPEEDY BALL TEAM

A real speedy ball game was witnessed at the Schiek diamond north of Mokena Sunday when the local team played Orland defeating the latter with a score of 5 to 4 favor of the local team. A 10 inning game was played and the interest never waned from beginning to end. The battery for Mokena consisted of B. Flat and Art Benson. The battery for Orland was Ludwig and Keuch. The Mokena pitcher did some good work. Next Palos Park will play at Mokena and a rattling good game is promised. All you fans come out and root for the home team.

The Mokena boys are working hard to get up a crack ball team for next year and it is hoped that they will be given the proper backing to enable them to do this. By having a good team the boys have something for recreation and it brings people to town also.

LEAVES ESTATE OF

4 TRILLION MARKS

At the present rate of exchange 80,000,000 marks for a dollar, the heirs of the late Henry Bruns of Crete, who live in Germany, are worth 4,560,000,000,000 marks, according to Charles H. Blim, Joliet attorney who is named as executor of the estate in Mr. Bruns' will.

The Bruns estate, according to Mr. Blim, is worth approximately $57,000.

Mr. Bruns died at his home in Crete, July 14, this year. His will provides that his estate is to be divided among his two sisters and several nephews and nieces in Germany. The money will be divided among 12 or 14 heirs, according to Mr. Blim.

The will has been filed in the probate court, but no time has been set for hearing on the petition for admittance to probate because of the delay in preparation of the proof of heirship. Information to make this proof must come from Germany.

Before the mark rallied last week to 80,000,000 for a dollar it required 250,000,000 of them to equal a dollar bill. At that rate the Bruns heirs would be worth over 14,000,000,000,000 marks.

COLONIAL STYLE HOME

BEING BUILT AT TINLEY

Tinley Park is going to have an idea of a modern colonial home when the home of Richard J. Ryan now in course of construction, is completed. The building will be one and a half stories and will hark way back to the old colonial in point of architecture. It has very commodious rooms, a large sun parlor and while colonial in architecture it will be modern in every way and will contain conveniences never dreamed of in the old colonial days. The building will be heated by a hot water heating plant and a fire place will also diffuse warmth in the cold days of next winter. With an eye to the future of Tinley Park a gas log will be installed in the fire place so when ever Tinley Park is supplied with gas everything will be ready to hook up.

Mrs. Ryan designed the plans for this new home and with the aid of the skilled carpenters the plans are being faithfully carried out.

NEW LENOX PORTION OF LINCOLN WAY AWARDED TO NEW CONTRACTOR

The concrete road from New Lenox to the Red Mill on the Lincoln Highway, will be completed this year, according to announcement by the state highway department, which has taken the contract from James L. Bannon and awarded it to the Hayes Construction Co.

There are approximately four miles of paving to be completed and much of the heavy grading on this section has been finished.

Work on this section of the road will be resumed as soon as the Hayes Construction company moves its equipment here. It expects to have a number of men on the preliminary work this week.

Bannon, who had the contract for 6.71 miles of road, has finished a little more than two miles of the contract. The high cost of labor and materials forced Bannon to abandon his work, it is said.

At a conference in Springfield Monday between Senator Richard J. Barr, J. R. Blackhall, state highway officials and officials of the bonding company representing Bannon, it was decided to award the remainder of the work to the Hayes Company who assured the state they will finish the paving before the end of the road building season.

LUTHERANS BELIEVE BIBLE INERRANT

Evolution and Higher-Criticism Held to Be Unscriptural and Anti-Christian.

The Lutheran Church stands, first of all, for the Bible, the whole Bible, and nothing but the Bible. Says Thomas Carlyle: "The period of the Reformation was a judgment day for Europe, when all the nations were presented with an open Bible." Since the time when Martin Luther discovered that dust covered copy of a complete Bible, chained to the wall of the library of the University of Erfurt, and learned its blessed truths and brought it forth and gave it back to Christendom—ever since that time the Lutheran Church has upheld the Bible as the infallible and sole and sufficient rule of faith and life; and ever since that time the Lutheran Church has defended the Bible against all attacks from within and without Christendom.

The Lutheran Church believes that the sacred writings of the church, both of the Old and New Testaments, are not only certain, but are the inspired Word of God; that God not only suggested to the writers the thoughts, or subjects, on which He desired them to express their personal sentiments, but also prompted their very utterances, the holiness of God thinking and speaking as they were moved by the Holy Ghost. The Lutheran Church believes and teaches that the sixty-six Books of the Bible are the final revelation of God to a sinful world, that they are true and inerrant in every part; that they are the only norm by which Christian faith and Christian life must be determined.

The Lutheran Church, therefore, has no room for higher criticism and rationalism, evolutionism and pseudo science, which are attempting to destroy this old Bible page by page, and would have us inquire each morning as we read the latest news, "Where is the Bible today?" "How much have Professor This or Doctor That, after their latest researches, left us of the dear old Book?"

Uncommon Sense . . .

By JOHN BLAKE

WOLF AT THE DOOR

THIS isn't a fable. The wolf that figures in it is a wolf you've often heard of. He's the widely celebrated wolf-at-the-door.

Most men work all their lives to be rid of him. When he is gone they stop working—and, too often, back he comes. Only a few get rid of him forever. And the sense of security that takes his place is considerably more dangerous than the wolf could possibly be.

Most of us need the wolf in our business. When, of a morning, we glance out of the window and see him sitting hungrily on the doorstep we take more interest in our day's work. When we are on the job the thought of him keeps us hustling. And by keeping hustling we put our brain in condition, which helps a lot with the next day's work.

The wolfless man is a worryless man, and a worryless man isn't much use in the world.

The man who knows he can't be fired helps very little around an office or shop. Necessity did not limit her family to the one child—invention. She is the mother of effort, of achievement, of energy, of industry—a very goodly brood of children.

If Thomas A. Edison had made a competence before he was thirty it is possible that he would have kept on working, but we doubt it.

It is true that men long past all fear of the wolf are still doing important work, but they got the habit of work when the wolf was leering at them as they left the house for the job. The habit persisted.

Poverty is an ugly thing which we all should avoid. But the very avoiding of it stimulates ambition, brings out such talents as we may have and opens our eyes to our own possibilities.

In the South Sea Islands the natives don't have to work. The breadfruit supplies their food and kills their ambition.

Winter, which we associate with our friend the wolf, forces men to step lively on the road to competence. And the highest achievement is to be found in the temperate zones, where there is winter enough to keep men thinking about the coal supply and not enough, as in the Arctic regions, to keep them in the house all the time.

Don't be afraid of the wolf. He is evil to look upon, with his red eyes, and his jolling tongue, but he is one of the best friends you have got.

WE WERE NOT SATISFIED

By GRACE E. HALL

CAN you forget the myriad things That made the cycle of those years:

The witchery of tender springs, The autumn leaves, the tears, The gray mists blurring out the view, The somber scenes across the way, The unsaid things we sensed and knew Each passing day?

Can you forget the mystic thread

We wove on fancy's magic loom Into those days that now are dead— Dead as that first spring's bloom? We watched the gray doves come and go,

Stood at the window while the rain Tapped with a ghost-touch soft and low Against the pane.

The hours were commonplace, we said, And wished for scenes some other where,

We saw the sunsets, gold and red, Watched snow-clouds fill the air; Heard song birds in the trees above, Had all God's gifts, and yet We were not satisfied with love— And now—regret!

MRS. COFFMAN ILL SEVEN YEARS

Saved from an Operation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sidell, Ill.—"I was a nervous wreck. I was suffering from a pain in my left side, which was almost unbearable, and I could not even let the bed clothing rest on my body at night. I had been sick for seven years, but not so bad until the last eighteen months, and had become so run-down that I cared for nobody, and would rather have died than live. I couldn't do my work without help, and the doctors told me that an operation was all there was left. I would not consent to that, so my husband brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged me to take it. I have taken fourteen bottles of it and I feel ten years younger. Life is full of hope. I do all my housework and had a large garden this year. I never will be without the Vegetable Compound in the house, and when my two little girls reach womanhood I intend to teach them to take it. I am never too busy to tell some suffering sister of my help, and you can use my name and letter to spread the good news of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines."

SCHOOL DAYS

Has Anyone Laughed At You Because—

By ETHEL R. PEYSER

You Like to Putter in the Garden?

The world after all is a garden and it is from the garden that we get our wheat and water and all the things we civilized people must have to exist at all. Ever since the world began masses of us have been gardeners and farmers. You love the smell of the earth, it strengthens you. You get something stimulating from outdoors, from helping things to grow, from watching them develop. You like the garden for putting rather than an ill-smelling garage. You like the garden, it gives you healthful exercise and brings you near to God—whether you realize it or not.

SO Your get-away here is: You belong to a noble line of earth's beautifiers.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

DO YOUR BEST

YOU cannot by any newly conceived process hope to get the best and apply it to the best use, unless you give the best.

The studious scholar stands at the head of his or her class simply because he or she gives the best—the closest attention, the deepest thought and the hardest work. Concentration is wearisome, but it produces effective results and yields enduring rewards which can be attained in no other way.

In art, literature, business and in the crafts, those who become conspicuous for their skill, give their best energy in perfecting themselves, and as a result they hold the foremost place in their respective callings, command the most respectful consideration and win the highest recompense.

Life to those who give their best wears a different aspect from that which is so dimly seen by the heedless, heading for no particular port, lacking the ability to judge the direction of the wind or energy to study the charts.

Close application, holding constantly to one specific course, working hour after hour without every little while pausing to scan the clock, cannot in their state of indifference be done.

Such persons in their reflective moments may be annoyed at the progress of their rivals, but the annoyance lacks strength to shake them from their lethargy.

Any continuous exertion calling for excellence, is too violent, too wearing to body and mind to be tolerated.

So they remain passive, and when the frequent ugly moods come upon them they censure the fates for their pitiful plights.

How then, can such humans who habitually and generally from choice travel among the irresolute and the grumblers, blame others for delinquencies which are obviously their own?

Three Ways to Wealth.

There seem to be but three ways for a nation to acquire wealth: the first is by war, as the Romans did, in plundering their conquered neighbors—this is robbery; the second by commerce, which is generally cheating; the third by agriculture, the only honest way, wherein man receives a real increase of the seed thrown into the ground, in a kind of continual miracle, wrought by the hand of God in his favor, as a reward for his innocent life and his virtuous industry.—Franklin.

MEATS THAT ARE DIFFERENT

THOSE who are fond of liver will enjoy another way of preparing it.

Liver Baked With Vegetables.

Take a pound and a half of calf's liver, dredge with seasoned flour and add to a hot pan in which a tablespoonful of drippings has been cooked with a sliced onion and one cupful of celery. Lay the liver uncut in the pan and cover with two slices of bacon, season with a teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of pepper and bake closely covered for half an hour. Add six small potatoes pared and halved. Recover and bake until the potatoes are done, remove the lid and brown the bacon. Dish up the meat, add two tablespoonfuls of flour to the ### Emergency Pudding.

Take a pint of thick breakfast porridge, farina or any similar preparation, to it add one cupful of milk, heat and add an egg white stiffly beaten. Cook a minute to cook the egg, add two cupfuls of fresh berries mixed with a cupful of sugar and crushed. Pour into a mold; do not mix the fruit. Serve hot or cold.

Custards of various flavors are all acceptable dishes for children, easy of digestion and nutritious. Junkets, jellies of gelatin and sago and tapioca combined with fruit and served with cream and sugar are all good.

Cold Sliced Lamb With Onion Sauce.

Slice three large onions and lay them in the bottom of a saucepan, add the juice of half a lemon. Lay the

BARNYARD TALE

"There is going to be a great meeting in the barnyard," said Porky Pig. "Grunt, grunt, all come to the meeting."

"Billy Goat Saw Him."

"All come to the meeting," said Mrs. Duck. "Quack, quack, all come to the meeting."

"Yes, cock-a-doodle-do," said Red Top the Rooster, "all come to the meeting."

All the old friends and enemies—though I trust there are no enemies—will come and greet each other.

"It's to be a fine reunion," said Miss Ham. "Yes, squeal, squeal," said Miss Ham. "It is to be a fine reunion. People mustn't think they're the only ones who can meet about and have family reunions where all the relatives and grandfathers and grandmothers and grandchildren and uncles and aunts and cousins and daughters-in-law come."

"We, of the barnyard, can also have a splendid reunion!"

"Oh yes, every one must come to the reunion," said Billy Goat.

"They must, grunt, grunt," said Brother Bacon.

"Has every invitation been sent out?" asked Mrs. Ham.

"Every one," said Mrs. Duck.

Just then a caterpillar crawled along through the barnyard, hurrying out of the way for fear he might be eaten or trampled upon or killed in one of the ways creatures had of getting rid of caterpillars.

Billy Goat saw him and sang this song:

"The caterpillar only crawls, He is not much admired, But he'll become a butterfly, For with high ambitions he's fired."

Everyone congratulated Billy Goat upon his song which was a quite original one. The words, everyone said, were a little better than the music, but it was all good, all good, they said.

And Billy Goat was delighted with the praise. In fact so delighted was he that he said he had another he'd sing, though he'd have to think a little about it.

While he was thinking, though, he was talking about it.

"You see," he said, "I heard one of the young ladies talking the other day, and it seemed she had gone to town dressed in all her old clothes because it had been a rainy day when she had started."

"Yes, she had on an old hat, and old shoes and rubbers, and an old skirt and coat. And no sooner had she reached town than the sun came out and there was she on this most beautiful day feeling so like an old rainy day."

"So this is the song I'm making up about that."

There's nothing sadder in this world Than to have the sun come out When you're dressed in all your old clothes.

Because you were in doubt."

"Of course," said Billy Goat, "she had been in doubt as to whether she'd wear her good ones because she had seen a little blue sky in one corner of the sky but she had been afraid that it would rain."

"We see, we see; a fine verse, Billy Goat. We shall have to name you the Poet of the Barnyard. Truly that would be an honor and one that you deserve," the other animals said.

So when the creatures all came to the Barnyard Reunion Billy Goat or Sir William Goat, the Gentleman, was also called "The Barnyard Poet."

Yes, everyone was on hand, or perhaps one should say on foot, for the reunion. Porky Pig and Mrs. Duck helped to entertain.

The song sparrows came and the owl sent word he was sleeping or he'd come. (They hadn't asked him so they were just as glad he couldn't come.) The Dog who had become so brave came along, so did Sharpy Squirrel, Running Rabbit, Mrs. Blue Jay, "The Sun Came Out."

In fact it was a splendid reunion and there was excellent food, though of course the Pig family forgot about entertaining any but themselves when the food came along!

But there was enough to go around. The Geese weren't quite as polite as they should have been, of course, but taking it all in all it was a splendid barnyard reunion.

Got it in the Neck. Little Helen—Brother Charles can't come to school. He has diphtheria. Teacher—Indeed! Where did he get it?

She has just completed a yearly semi-official test with a record of 35,550.4 pounds milk containing 1,133.2 pounds butterfat, which is equivalent to 1,416.5 pounds of butter. With her previous record of 37,381.4 pounds milk and 1,158.05 pounds butterfat, she is the only cow to hold two 365-day records each over 35,000 pounds milk and 1,000 pounds butterfat. She is a purebred Holstein, owned by the Carnation stock farms, Seattle, Washington.

MANY CHAMPIONS ARE TO ATTEND CONGRESS

Boys and Girls Slated to Compete at Big Stock Show.

Twelve hundred champion club boys and girls from 46 states; daily demonstrations of the best practices in agriculture and home economics; exhibits of all the principal projects in which club boys and girls are competing; a complete exhibit of club work by the Department of Agriculture; live stock judging contests for the boys, clothing and canning judging contests for the girls and a health contest for all; a complete tour to all of the principal places of interest in and around the city of Chicago—this, in a word, is the program for the second National Boys' and Girls' clubs congress and fifth annual tour held during the International Live Stock exposition, December 1 to 8, as announced by the national committee on boys' and girls' club work.

Six years ago 25 club boys came to Chicago to attend the world's greatest live stock show. The following year a special program was inaugurated. This original program has been enlarged upon from year to year, until now the National Boys' and Girls' Clubs congress has become well known from coast to coast and even in other countries.

It is the central gathering place for club boys and girls who have been successful in competition the country over. The reward for their outstanding achievements in club work, which is devoted to the three-fold development of the "Head, Heart and Health," through the agricultural and home-making work conducted by the extension service of the state colleges, the United States Department of Agriculture co-operating, is in part the educational trip to Chicago. The real reward, of course, is their increased knowledge in working together, in adopting the best practices—in short, their preparation to become the best farm and home managers in the nation.

Club work is a training which is the equivalent to the practical side of a four-year agricultural college education. The Boys' and Girls' Club, congress is equivalent to graduation exercises of a large number of boys and girls who have competed in club work for a number of years. This congress is truly the place where country and city meet.

Speakers of national repute, including Honorable H. C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture; O. E. Bradford, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, the president of the American Bankers' association, and others will address the gathering. County farm bureaus the country over are looking forward to having their young folk present, and club boys and girls everywhere are striving to win these educational trips which are so instructive and entertaining.

CO-OPERATIVE SERVICE USED

Ohio Producers Market Live Stock Valued at $748,983 During Month of July.

Live stock producers of Ohio, using co-operative channels in marketing, sent live stock valued at $748,983.04 to market during the month of July, according to reports from 50 counties, figures from which have been tabulated by the Ohio Farm Bureau federation. This amount was sent to terminals by 5,521 producers who are members of the co-operative associations reporting. The stock was taken to market in 643 floors, the stock weighing at market 9,941,850 pounds.

Putnam county led in both the number of shippers using the co-operative service and the value of the live stock sold, according to the reports. Other high counties in market value of live stock marketed were Fayette, Madison, Drake, Greene, Highland and Wyandot. In the number of shippers using the service Drake, Logan, Monroe, Fayette, Highland and Wyandot followed Putnam in the order named.

FARM BUREAU RADIO SERVICE IS BEGUN

Messages Will Be Interesting and Informative.

The farm bureau radio service is made possible through the courtesy of the Radio Corporation of America and the co-operation of Westinghouse.

Samuel R. Guard, director of the department of information, who will have charge of the radio service, says:

"The farm bureau radio service will be built strictly in line with the publicity policies of the American Farm Bureau federation. There will be no place for propaganda of any sort. We shall retain documentary evidence substantiating every message which is broadcasted under farm bureau auspices. The messages will be delivered by our leaders as we are able to schedule them and will be both interesting and informative. Throughout the year they will convey an accurate picture of the farm bureau movement."

"The possibilities of radio are almost beyond comprehension. It is our belief that before long the radio receiving set will be as common a fixture in the country home as is the telephone. The American Farm Bureau federation intends to keep in step with radio developments and to provide a message which the farm people want to hear in a voice familiar and welcome."

"The farm bureau radio project will begin with one station—KYW—in Chicago. Broadcasting will be on Tuesday nights at 8:01, which is the very best hour of the day for our people. As rapidly as possible we shall arrange with other powerful sending stations in all sections of the country to broadcast the farm message. By 'staggering' the farm bureau program on different nights from different stations we eventually hope to be able to 'tune in' on any night of the week and from some station in America find the message of agriculture. We have made excellent progress in perfecting our arrangements, but we prefer to proceed cautiously from a single station in Chicago and see how it works."

CHANCES FOR PRICE FIXING

Gray Silver, Farm Bureau Representative in Washington, Talks on Wheat Situation.

"I see nothing to encourage the belief that congress will pass legislation which will fix the price of wheat, or that congress will go into the business of buying and selling wheat or in any statutory way do anything to put the government in the wheat business," stated Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau federation, in discussing the continued demand in some quarters that congress meet the present situation by federal legislation. "If congress should decide to pass some such bill, I do not anticipate that it would do so before February or March and by that time, unless the farmers continue to own their own wheat by warehousing on their farms, awaiting a consumptive demand and price which is at least equal to the cost of production, such action by congress would be of no avail, anyway."

MUCH MONEY SAVED FARMERS

Secretary of Louisiana Farm Bureau Shows How Farmers Gain by Co-Operation.

More than $1,000 was saved the farmers of Franklin parish farm bureau during March and April through co-operative buying and selling, reports Miss Margarette Meyer, secretary, Winnboro, La.

The report shows that on co-operative purchases of lespedeza seed from the Farm Bureau Lespedeza Seed Growers $323.35 was saved; on two carloads of nitrate of soda, $558; on the co-operative purchase of a small amount of acid phosphate, $57.47; on a small quantity of seed corn, $5, making a total of $943.32 saved on four deals. On one sale of poultry $80.10 was realized over the local prices.

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 30

REVIEW: GREAT MEN AND WOMEN OF THE NEW TESTAMENT

DEVOTIONAL READING — Heb. 11:13-16, 39, 40.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us."—Heb. 12-1.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Favorite Story of the Quarter.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Favorite Heroes and Heroines of the Quarter.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Some Great Characters of the New Testament.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Life Lessons From This Quarter.

With the senior and adult classes, three methods of review may be profitably employed:

1. The descriptive word method as presented in Peloubet's Select Notes.

1. Brave John the Baptist.
2. The Faith-Filled Virgin Mary.
3. Impulsive Peter.
4. Loving John the Apostle.
5. Thoughtful Matthew.
6. Ardent Mary Magdalene.
7. Busy Martha and Open-Hearted Mary.
8. Faithful Stephen.
9. Generous Barnabas.
10. The Many-sided Paul.
11. Timid Mark.
12. Helpful Luke.
13. Consecrated Timothy.

2. Presenting Life Lessons as given in Crannel's Pocket Lessons:

1. Woman Lessons.
2. Mary: Glorified Motherhood, Lesson 2.
3. Magdalene: Adoring Gratitude, Lesson 6.
4. Martha-Mary: Rounded Womanhood, Lesson 7.
5. Peter: Compacted Zeal, Lesson 8.
6. John: Ripened Love, Lesson 4.
7. Paul: Passionate Devotion, Lesson 19.
8. Helper Lessons.
9. John: Faithful Pioneering, Lesson 1.
10. Matthew: Divine Transformations, Lesson 5.
11. Stephen: Heroic Witness, Lesson 8.
12. Barnabas: Greatening Greatness, Lesson 9.
13. Mark: Return of the Quitter, Lesson 11.
14. Luke: Double Heater, Lesson 12.
15. Timothy: The Glorious Ministry, Lesson 13.

3. The Summarizing of Contents.

The following is suggestive:

- Lesson I. John the Baptist was a humble and courageous man. He did not take honor to himself nor trim his message to suit the crowd.
- Lesson II. Mary should not be worshipped, but she is worthy of great honor. Her faith made her to acquiesce in the Lord's will in spite of the fact that she knew that her character would be suspected.
- Lesson III. Peter, while being fickle and cowardly, is a fine example of the transforming power of God's grace.
- Lesson IV. John the apostle was a reticent man. He did not say much about himself, but was passionately in love with his Lord.
- Lesson V. Matthew, though humble, was a man of force of character and decision. He left all and followed Jesus.
- Lesson VI. Mary Magdalene, because she was saved, was steadfast in her devotion to the Lord. Because of this, she was able to tell the good news of the resurrection to the discouraged disciples.
- Lesson VII. Mary and Martha both loved the Lord. Martha was mistaken as to the best way to please Him. Mary chose the good part in fellowship with her Lord which has made her name immortal.
- Lesson VIII. Stephen was so completely filled with Christ that his face shone as the face of an angel.
- Lesson IX. Barnabas was a good man and filled with the Holy Ghost. Therefore, he was qualified as a leader of men.
- Lesson X. Paul's knowledge of Jesus was so real that he had as his supreme aim to magnify Him.
- Lesson XI. Mark, though having turned back from the work, was restored and became a great and honored minister of Christ.
- Lesson XII. Luke, the skilled and popular physician, gave himself up to be the attendant of the missionary of the cross.
- Lesson XIII. Because of Timothy's religious training, he became a worthy minister of the gospel.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it. A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcel post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. ## Through a Sieve Woven Finer Than Silk

Raw materials of which portland cement is made come out of the ground usually as solid rock.

They must first be crushed, ground and reground until at least 85 per cent of the resulting powder will shake through a sieve that will actually hold water.

This sieve is considerably finer than the finest silk fabric. It has 200 hair-like bronze wires to the inch. That means 40,000 holes to the square inch.

But the several crushings and grindings necessary to reduce solid rock to this extreme fineness are only the beginning of cement making.

The powdered materials must then be subjected to intense heat for several hours in huge rotary kilns. Here they are half melted and become a substance much harder than the original rock—clinker, it is called.

Then the clinker must be crushed and ground until at least 78 per cent of the resulting product will pass through the sieve woven finer than silk. This is portland cement.

More than 80 power and fuel consuming operations are necessary in cement making. The electric power alone used in producing a barrel of portland cement would, if purchased at usual household rates, cost $1.70.

Few manufactured products go through so involved or complicated a process as portland cement. And it sells for less per pound than any comparable manufactured product.

Why Your Light Bills Vary

Whenever you find a sudden or unusual increase in your bill, think—

Does someone in your family carelessly leave lights burning when not in use?

Have you had company recently, used extra guest rooms, entertained late in the evening?

Has there been sickness in the house?

Are the servants wasteful of current?

Have you added any new electric appliances to your home equipment?

Have you been reading several nights a week until early morning?

Have the days been dark and rainy?

Does the bill cover the same number of days as previous bills, with which you're making comparison?

READ YOUR METER REGULARLY—once a week if desired. Then you can check up during the month and see just when the maximum amount of current is consumed.

Would Not Take $1,000 for It, Says H. H. Jones

"I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for the good Tanlac has done me, for I've gained twenty pounds and never felt better in my life," said Harley H. Jones, 1141 7th St., LaSalle, Ill.

I lost weight and strength until I could hardly drag myself to work. My nerves were so upset I couldn't get a good night's sleep, and mornings I was so tired I was just about ready to give up.

"Tanlac has made me feel like a new man. My stomach is in such fine condition I eat anything I want and never have a sign of indigestion, and I sleep well every night. I look so much better my friends are talking about it. Tanlac is remarkable."

PATIENTS AIDED BY RADIO

Helped to Forget Their Shattered Nerves and Takes the Place of Sedatives.

Combating the drug habit was not among the uses to which it was believed that the radio could be put, even by its most optimistic promoters. Yet it has been discovered that patients in hospitals equipped with radio sets which can pass along afternoon and evening concert programs, are helped to forget their sufferings and are less in need of narcotics to quiet their shattered nerves. The radio goes far toward carrying into the wards the gaiety and cheer that have been hitherto only for the healthy world outside. Inasmuch as all doctors agree that many drug addicts acquire the addiction during convalescence in hospitals, this achievement becomes one of the most important that has thus far been set down to the credit of the radio. The radio may remain a toy or a jest for the healthy and cynical. It has already established itself as a heaven-sent blessing for shut-ins.—New York Tribune.

COOLIDGES FOND OF PLAIN FOOD

"Mac," Their Boston Waiter, Talks About Their Simple Gastronomic Tastes.

Boston, Mass.—Much has been written lately about the simple tastes and unassuming ways of Calvin Coolidge, now President of the United States, and of Mrs. Coolidge, and those who are well acquainted with them say this simplicity permeates their life. When Coolidge was governor of Massachusetts he and Mrs. Coolidge made their home at the Adams house, and their regular waiter there, "Mac," who is known to many hundreds of Bostonians, told a writer for the Boston Sunday Advertiser a lot about their gastronomic tastes. Said he:

"Their breakfast order was always the same—Two Special No. 1's, grapefruit for Mrs. Coolidge and orange for me."

"Special No. 1 never varied. It consisted of two small pots of coffee, graham muffins and fruit."

"Mr. Coolidge would give the order and call for a clean glass and a whole orange. He would squeeze the orange himself into the glass, and drink the juice."

Silent at Meals.
"Mrs. Coolidge always had half a grapefruit."

"They were generally alone at breakfast, as their boys were at school and only visited them in vacation time. Once, though, when the boys were there, they wanted ham and eggs for breakfast. Mrs. Coolidge ordered it for them, but when the governor found it out, he frowned on giving the kids meat for breakfast."

"They were seldom at my table for lunch, as they were both often gone all day. But they would be back for dinner, unless they were dining out."

"Then Mrs. Coolidge used to order a chop—the way you do," interpolated "Mac," who has an uncanny memory for the likes and dislikes of every one of his patrons.

"Sometimes she would have a steak. But Mr. Coolidge always made his dinner on cereal—usually grape nuts and tea or milk."

"He was just as quiet at their family meals as he is in public life. Hardly ever said a word. Breakfast over, he would go away in silence."

"They seldom had guests, except Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, who were with them frequently."

"Sometimes there would be one or two others with them at dinner. On those occasions Mrs. Coolidge would try every way in the world to get him to join in the conversation. Nothing doing. He would look and listen, but hardly ever opened his mouth—except for his grape nuts. Once in a while he would shoot a little smile—like this—" and for a fleeting instant "Mac" was the living image of the President.

Lapsing back to his natural expression, which is intense but amiable, "Mac" continued:

"He is a hard man to get at, if you know what I mean. But when you once do get at him, you find he has one of the best hearts in the world."

All Liked Mrs. Coolidge.
"But for kindness and a charming manner combined, Mrs. Coolidge was the one. Every waiter in the dining room liked to serve her. She was always considerate, always appreciative for anything done for her. If Mrs. Coolidge once knew you, she knew you everywhere, no matter where she happened to meet you. In the hotel corridor, or in the street, she would always bow. She's a fine woman."

"I used to look at those boys, and their good manners, and wonder how she did it. But then, bringing up six. (Six little McKeoughs, remember.)"

"I said to one of my boys the other day, 'Look at young Calvin Coolidge. His father's President of the United States, and he's looking for farm work at $3.50 a day. I suppose if I was president you'd be wanting to take it easy in the White House.'"

Luck at Cards.
Many card players are particular about the cut of the cards. They must be divided and put back with the most meticulous care. A slovenly cut brings good luck to the dealer and bad luck to the cutter. Some imagine that special tables or positions at the tables are lucky to them, and refuse to play unless they can get the places they desire. Others conceive that certain members are unlucky to them, and nothing will induce them to play with them. To drop a card on the floor when playing is generally regarded as a bad omen.

Not Like History.
Multimillionaires can hardly tell how to become such to the eager who want to find a way. Circumstances, unlike history, do not repeat themselves.

Missing Links.
The owner of a coconut plantation has trained a monkey to climb the trees and gather the nuts. But this is too much like his usual occupation to count for much. In China they had done better than that a century ago, for there they had been trained to pull rhuubarb and gather rice. In Abyssinia they had simian torch-bearers for supper parties, but the station master at Ultenhage, a small wayside station in Cape Colony, did better and trained a baboon to act as signalman and work the switches.

An Englishman, an Irishman and a Scotchman were one day arguing as to which of the three countries possessed the fastest trains.

"Well," said the Englishman, "I've been in one of our trains, and the telegraph poles have been like a hedge."

ORIGIN OF GOLD NUGGETS

United States Geologist Says Finding of Huge Pebbles Does Not Indicate Large Vein.

In a rugged, out-of-the-way region on the ocean side of the Coast ranges, in Monterey county, California, gold nuggets have been found of such size as to suggest that this was once a favorite retreat of the proverbial goose that laid the golden eggs. Matter-of-fact prospectors, however, have sought to find the veins from which such masses of gold, loosened by the weather, were washed into the stream beds. Their search has not been successful, and J. M. Hill, a United States geologist of the Department of the Interior, in a report just published, suggests that the nuggets came from rich superficial pockets in very small veins, and that no large and rich deposits are likely to be found by deep mining. The Coast ranges of California, unlike the Sierra Nevada, are not rich in gold, and the occurrence of these large nuggets does not necessarily indicate the existence of a rich deposit of gold ore.

The Bunco party at the Lutheran school given by the Young Folks So-success. Twenty-one tables played.

Over 100 guests were present. Mrs.
Herman Nicolai received first prize.

Quite a little blood was spilled on the sidewalks of Orland by some negroes Saturday night. One was cut up badly, but otherwise it was a friendly fight. As long as they remain giving themselves hospital accommodations its alright.

At the village board meeting quite that will be left untaxed is the min-

his shekels toward paying the elec-

Oct. 10 will see Orland street open road and it will be found expedient for Orland to have its own speed

The first representatives of the Lutheran Church in this country came from Holland, the land which, during the Reformation, furnished the first martyrs for the Evangelical faith. In all probability the religious oppressions, as well as the political agitations in their native land, prompted them to go beyond the seas in quest of peace and prosperity, if not primarily for the sake of religious freedom.
Some of them appear to have come with the first Dutch colony, which in 1623 occupied Manhattan Island, now much opposition, even persecution, on the part of the Dutch authorities. But

The oldest Lutheran congregation existing in America today is St. Matthew's New York City, which recently celebrated the two hundred and sixtieth anniversary of its birth. At first this congregation was Dutch, then German, now almost entirely English. In 1638, nearly fifty years before the historic treaty made by William Penn with the Indians under Shaka-moxon Elm, a ship of war and another smaller vessel laden with Swedish Lutherans, arrived in this country and settled on the banks of the Delaware, after making honorable purchase of their land from the Indians. It is making a modest but just claim to maintain that the friendly attitude of the savages toward William Penn was in a great measure due to the Christian labors and lives of those pious Lutherans, who for nearly half a century previous had been practising among them the righteous principles and brotherly love of the Gospel.

LUTHERAN CHURCH'S REMARKABLE GROWTH

The Evangelical Lutheran Church is the largest Protestant church in the world, numbering almost as many members as all the others combined, almost 90 millions. In this country it ranks third among the Protestant bodies, its membership being 2,516, ing confirmed members above the ages of 13 or 14 years. The constituency of the Lutheran Church, nominal

BIBLE IS SUFFICIENT LUTHERANS CLAIM

No Decrees of Church Councils or Additions to Bible Needed for Church's Faith.

The Lutheran Church believes in the sufficiency of the Bible as a rule of Christian faith and life. St. Paul, writing to Timothy, declares of the Holy Scriptures, which Timothy had learned from a child, that they "are able to make him wise unto salvation" (1 Tim. 3, 15-16.) How much more is this true of the Holy Scriptures since the New Testament has been added to the Old?

There are some who indeed believe in the Bible and speak in glowing terms of the Bible, but they do not believe it to be a sufficient source of religious truth and knowledge. And so they add to the Bible, as of equal authority with it, tradition or the declarations and decrees of the Church or of some dignity of the Church. Others elevate to the side of the Bible, as additional sources of religious truth, explanations and keys to the Bible and their own mind or reason.
But as Paul believed in his day, so the Lutheran Church today believes; the Holy Scriptures alone are "able to make us wise unto salvation." And with Peter it confesses, "We have also a more sure word of prophecy;
whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place until the day dawn and the day-star arise in your hearts." Very clearly Peter represents the Bible as the light—the only light (1 Peter, 1, 9) and all else as darkness.

Therefore in all matters of religion, of faith and life, the Bible is the sole and highest court of appeal in the Lutheran Church. Its declarations are held to be final and binding. Its promises of peace and pardon and salvation are the immovable foundation of a sure faith and a certain hope. Its message is a safe guide and compass on the way through this life to the eternal home.

Do Lutherans use their reason?
Most certainly they do. But not to arrogantly assume the role of censor of the Holy Scriptures, but rather to understand the revelations of God.

Large Hotel in New York City, under the control of one company, employ 510 cooks, nearly 4,000 waiters, besides an average of 2,000 extra waiters for banquets. In all, they have 6,200 employees, representing over twenty trades and several professions.

Stampeding Sentiment.

ville as a feature of your campaignences said the monopolist made a better speech than I did and ought to be
